

Paul Kelly

Paul was a London Metropolitan Police Detective for over 26 years, proactively engaged in reducing serious organised crime, both nationally and internationally. He specialised in covert surveillance, intelligence gathering and led many proactive crime operations for which he received awards and commendations for Bravery, Courage and Professionalism

Paul has worked for The Walt Disney Company for 10 years as Director, Security – Europe Middle East and Africa (EMEA). He is responsible for designing and implementing the security strategy and policies for the company's corporate business interest throughout EMEA. He also acts as an 'In House' security consultant to the business, encompassing matters such as Physical Security, Executive Protection, Due Diligence, Investigations, Crisis Management and Business Continuity Planning.

